Police Detective Paul Bargiel shows a dog which wandered into the police station and curled up in the dispatcher's chair for a nap. The hat, gun and cigarette were provided with the compliments of fellow officers.

Bicentennial closing plans

With the Fourth of July falling on Sunday, city, county, state and federal offices will close on Monday, July 5. There will be no postal delivery July 5, but the lobbies of local post offices will be open for holders of postal boxes. Area banks, and savings and loan firms will not open for business Saturday, Sunday or Monday, July 3-5. Stores will operate on Saturday, July 3, but most shopping center stores will be open both Saturday and Sunday, it has been indicated.

FIRE BOMB FAILS

A mason jar filled with a flammable liquid was shown at the front door of Victor's Tavern, 2001 Illinois Ave., but failed to ignite, it was discovered at 11:55 a.m. Sunday. The door was damaged and the door glass was cracked, but there was no fire.

WHICH WAY IS RIGHT? If both of these signs are correct there wouldn't be much traffic on Benton St. Actually if you are driving on 20th Street and see these signs on the corner of Benton, you'll probably be as confused as the signs are confusing. The sign at the left, pointing to the right, is the correct one, since Benton Street starts at 20th Street and runs north. The sign at the right, pointing to the left, was installed as a one-way street running north. The sign at the right, pointing to the left, was installed backwards. Not to make things any more confusing, Benton Street south of 20th Street is a two-way street. Is everything clear?

Bicentennial opens with crowds at park

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Entertainment appealing to varied tastes and age levels is being offered this week by the Granite City Park District, ranging from thrilling midway rides to two brilliant fireworks displays, an all-day community picnic and stage shows.

About 850 persons of many faiths attended interdenominational religious services Sunday afternoon in the Wilson Park Ice rink, organized by the Quad-City Ministerial Association.

The large gathering sang favorite hymns, heard the combined choirs of the churches and listened to a sermon by the Rev. Wendell Garrison, president of the Illinois State Baptist Association.

The week's events are part of the park district's traditional Fourth of July Festival, expanded to celebrate the Bicentennial Year with many new attractions.

Music will have the same diversity and scope from patriotic and nostalgic melodies on Tuesday evening, sung by local youngsters and adults, to country-western precipitated a revolution in the steel industry.

Changes in steel technology

The emphasis was shifting from production of capital goods to production of consumption goods.

A great many manufactured consumer goods required a large tonnage of sheet and strip steel.

It soon became apparent in the industry that the existing methods of rolling sheets could not produce sufficient quantity and quality to meet the increasing demands. The industry was forced to develop new methods to meet this challenge.

Of course, constant development and improvement is typical of a dynamic, highly industrialized economy.

However, in general, steel is an industry of big, ponderous machinery, an industry of almost unbelievable output, an industry which involves an immense dollar investment in

Abatement of air problems forecast

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

Only nine interested citizens attended a public hearing Friday morning in the Granite City Civil Defense building which was held to allow the public an opportunity to respond to an agreement between Granite City Steel and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency on a $17.5 million program to reduce air pollution here.

The poor showing, which included only one Granite City official, Alderman William Dallas, caused one man to comment for the record that he was alarmed by the lack of public interest. He also said he felt such hearings should be held at times when people are not working and would be available to attend.

The hearing, required by the rules of the Illinois Pollution Control Board, was designed to bring the GC Steel-EPA agreement before that board. It is hoped by both sides the board will issue an order that Granite City Steel comply with the terms of the agreement.

Such an order from the IPCB is necessary for the agreement to become binding, because the EPA does not have the authority to implement enforcement actions — an authority the state has reserved for the IPCB.

The Pollution Control Board selected Hillsboro attorney Paul Roache to act as hearing officer for what was described as "a cold hearing." It was noted the IPCB will see only the transcript of the hearing and "not emotions" or other displays would not be conveyed through the transcript.

Representing the Illinois EPA were Walter Frank, director of the Region IV office in Collinsville, John Palincsar of Springfield, and attorney in the District I enforcement section, Dick Jennings, Region IV environmental engineer, and Roger C. Zehner, attorney.

BEFORE REMODELING, the house at 3111 E. 23rd St., which now is the Udehl Bischoff family home was large for the time, but fell into disrepair. It was constructed about a century ago by Christian Krohn.

This photo of the house was taken in 1948. The home was constructed between 1872 and 1885, replacing a log cabin there since about 1825.

4th largest planning school in nation here

Melvin E. Kazeck went to Southern Illinois University in 1958 to teach because the planners of the local campus had sold him on the idea of "some day."

Some day there would be a campus in Madison County. Some day there would be enough students interested in geography and conservation to build a department.

In those days, SIUE was located on the old Shurtliff College campus in Alton, and the geography department consisted of one man—Kazeck. "They did a marvelous job of selling the future. A lot of people were sold on 'some day,'" Kazeck said.

According to the professor of earth sciences and planning, back then there was nothing at the site between Edwardsville and the Quad-Cities but signs along Pease Road suggesting that the university dreamers "go home."

Kazeck had come to the local university to teach geography and possibly develop a geography department. But he found that the majority of students attending classes at Alton were more interested in preparing themselves for a job. According to Kazeck, they were asking, "What can I do with it when I graduate?"

It became evident that the area students needed geography as it relates to occupations rather than geography simply for the value of the information.

He was amazed at the number of people interested in taking night classes at SIUE. Coming from a position in North Dakota where there was no evening program, Kazeck found the attitudes of the students unusual.

He also discovered that the SIUE students were older. "For the first three or four years, I had the feeling that the average age of the students was a little older," Kazeck said, "especially the women." Most of the women, and some of the men, he said, were not recent high school graduates. They were finishing an education they had begun sometime earlier.

"The students tended to be older and more serious about their studies," he said. Many of the male students were industrial workers.

"One of the first things I did was to get the Aeronautical Chart and Information Center to sign an agreement for a work-study program," Kazeck said. That allowed many of the students to get first-hand experience in cartography.

"We trained quite a few people for them," Kazeck said. Over the years, the Chart Center became automated and at present it does not use as many of the students as in the early years.

The next step was to apply geography and earth science to urban and regional planning. The university began to hire a planning staff.

"In the past five or six years, the biggest market for our students has been in the urban and regional planning field," Kazeck said.

While other high school teaching fields have retreated, earth science teachers are still in demand, Kazeck said. "I firmly believe we're going to have a national land use law. When that occurs, there will be an enormous market for people in the planning field who have a good foundation in the earth sciences," Kazeck said.

Some states, according to Kazeck, have already passed such a law. In defense of land conservation, Kazeck said, "We are going to have to plan not to cover our best agricultural land with shopping centers and parking lots."

"The natural resources of the United States have made the U.S. the greatest nation on the earth."

"Now that we have run out of some of our resources, oil being the most publicized one, we are discovering it costs more to import resources."

"Whenever resources are imported, manufactured products cost more money," he said.

The nation which takes care of its resources will, in turn, have its resources take care of it, he said.

Kazeck will retire at the end of this month. From a one-man operation, the department has grown to include 20 faculty members. According to Harry Kircher, professor of earth sciences and planning, Kazeck has been a dynamic personality in the building of the department.

SIUE originally offered only the bachelor's degree in geography; the school now offers a master of sciences in city and regional planning.

Today, graduates from the program are holding jobs with planning agencies from coast to coast and in several foreign countries.

The program has become the fourth largest planning program in the nation. "Some day" has arrived.

Student orientation

New students who have been accepted and plan to attend Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville must complete an orientation program at the university before they are classified as freshmen for the fall quarter.

The three-day program, which consists of an orientation to campus procedures and registration of classes for the fall quarter, is being sponsored by the New Student Life organization.

"This program has been developed in cooperation with several departments on campus in order to provide important information for incoming students," said Jim Rotter, coordinator of New Student Life.

There are 15 sessions of the three-day program, which begins July 7 and continues through the summer until Aug. 25. Students may make arrangements for the sessions two weeks following their notice from the university notifying them of their admittance. Rottler said.

For those who have just received notification and wish to attend the orientation, all sessions except the first three beginning July 7, 12 and 14 are

"If a student is working or he or she has a conflict and a three-day session may not be attended, they need to come to any of the sessions for one day only."

If a student misses his or her scheduled session, there will be a make-up week from Sept. 2 through 9, Rotter said.

Students may schedule a time for the orientation at any time over the phone by calling Jim Rotter or New Student Life at the SIUE Student Activities Office. 692-2686.

Representative Melvin Price, Democrat, 13rd District Illinois, reports that the House Appropriations Committee last week approved his $1,000,000 request for a mine subsidence control demonstration program for the Belleville and Maryville areas.

Funds for the project are included in the 1976-77 fiscal year Department of Interior appropriations bill, H.R. 14231. Price said, "I am hopeful that, once the House approves the bill with the proper funds, the Senate will quickly follow suit so that the program is undertaken as quickly as possible.

Q UNDER WHAT CIRCUMSTANCES IS AN AMOUNT FOR FUNERAL EXPENSES AVAILABLE UNDER THE RAILROAD RETIREMENT ACT?

If an employee who is completely or partially insured under the Railroad Retirement Act dies leaving no survivor eligible for an annuity at the time of his death, a lump sum is payable. This is equal to ten times the basic amount and is paid to the surviving widow if she was legally living with her husband when he died.

If there is no eligible spouse, and the funeral expenses are unpaid, the lump sum may be assigned to our funeral home by the person who assumed the responsibility for these expenses. If our costs are paid, reimbursement will be made to the person who paid them. This will be either the amount he paid, or the lump sum maximum.

Under certain circumstances the lump sum may be paid to us, without an assignment, if no one assumed responsibility for the funeral costs.

Jobless problem cited by Howlett

Illinois must avoid the deadly cycle of higher taxes, fewer jobs and then still higher taxes, Michael J. Howlett, Democratic nominee for governor, told a labor audience Friday night.

"Unemployment will be a major issue in the Nov. 3 national election campaign," said Howlett.

"The federal government recently reported the unemployment rate has improved slightly, dropping from 7.5 to 7.3 per cent in May. The same rate was announced for Illinois."

"When the jobless rate goes down two-fifths of a percentage point, the administration calls it a 'brightened outlook' and reaches for credit."

"With more than a third of a million men and women out of work in Illinois, we are in a recession. Statistics mean nothing to the family without a paycheck coming in to pay for the groceries."

"The Democratic party traditionally has been the party for economic growth, for more jobs. We will never be satisfied until we have a zero rate of unemployment."

"As governor, I plan to make economic development a key part of my administration. The increased sales and income tax revenues that will result will help us avoid the deadly cycle of higher taxes leading, in turn, to less business, fewer jobs and higher taxes."

"Although we expect a Democratic administration to take charge next year of leading us to new heights of the Kennedy-Johnson type of national prosperity, the state government must take some initiative on its own."

"I believe that we can restore the state's fiscal integrity without increasing taxes."

"Higher taxes would only drive more investment and more business and more jobs to other states. The future would offer fewer and fewer job opportunities for Illinois workers."

"Illinois should not continue losing people, plants and jobs to other states and countries, as we have been doing."

"There is no reason why Illinois should not continue to grow in economic strength."

"We have the country's largest coal resources."

"We are the nation's transportation corridor."

"Our road program is larger than any other state's."

"We have the fertile soil that makes us the leading farm products export state of the union."

"We have the skilled labor, the expert management, a strong educational system, all the resources we need to operate at full productive capacity."

"I've created an Advisory Committee on Economic Development, to include labor leaders, businessmen, educators and others, to assemble a program that will work."

"We will strive to attract new business to Illinois. But we will strive even harder to preserve, expand and protect the industries and jobs we already have."

"We don't want runaway plants. Our food and our factory products are for export, not our jobs."

"I am running for governor on the basis of my experience."

"I have 16 years on-the-job training as a state government administrator."

"I know how to reduce costs and improve service. Both as auditor and secretary of state, I provided more service with fewer employees."

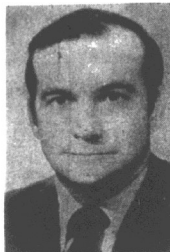

"To avoid a tax increase, we must tightly control state spending."

"As secretary, we reduced our payroll more than 12 per cent, spent less than our appropriation each year, and provided more service for each tax dollar spent."

"I have never exceeded my budget in 16 years in state office. In fact, I have frequently returned money to the state treasury unspent. This year, I will return $10 million."

"The next governor's term is for only two years."

"My experience will allow me to use that time well for the working people of Illinois."

Fish, wildlife restoration grants total $46 million

Over $46 million of federal aid funds for sport fish and wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs has been apportioned by Secretary of the Interior Thomas S. Kleppe to the states and the governments of Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands, and American Samoa for use after July 1.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Director Lynn A. Greenwalt said the $46 million is the first of two installments that will be distributed to the states this year from excise taxes collected in fiscal year 1976. It will be used by the states to finance their fish and wildlife programs during the first half of fiscal year 1977.

The second installment will be distributed in December after the tally of fiscal year 1976 tax receipts is completed by the Treasury Department. Last fiscal year a total of $78.8 million in federal aid funds was distributed in two installments to state governments.

Under a proposed schedule of allocations, Illinois will receive $675,773 for wildlife restoration and $208,137 for fish restoration. Last fiscal year a total of $78.8 million in federal aid funds was distributed in two installments to state governments. The $675,773 grant includes $720,000 for wildlife restoration and $450,000 for hunter safety. Funds for fish restoration programs come from a 10 percent excise tax on fishing rods, reels, creels, and artificial baits, lures and flies. Funds for wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs come from an 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and a 10 percent excise tax on pistols and revolvers.

This self-taxing concept has stood the test of 30 years, Greenwalt said. Since 1938 almost $600 million has been collected in excise taxes on these items. Fifty percent of these funds has gone into improving habitat for game such as building dikes to impound duck marshes, constructing watering sites on desert lands for quail and deer, managing forest lands, and fencing elk and deer from farmlands. Twenty-five percent has supported research into such things as census-guided selection of hunting seasons and bag limits and life history studies on a variety of animals such as wolves, grizzly bears, and the Florida panther. Another 20 percent has been spent buying or leasing land such as prairie duck sloughs, winter bag game ranges, bottom lands, desert lands—in all, more than 54 million acres or over 84,000 square miles, an area larger than the six New England states, Maryland and Hawaii combined. Only 5 percent of the funds has gone to administrative overhead. Of the distribution announced today, $33.3 million was distributed according to a formula based on hunting license holders and the area of each state for wildlife projects. Another $4.8 million was distributed, on the basis of state population, for hunter safety programs. Under the Federal Aid to Fish Restoration Program, $8.5 million was distributed on a formula based on the number of sport fishing license holders and the area of each state.

Limited recalls of employees laid off during the annual model changeover at the A. O. Smith Corp. automotive frame plant here began Thursday and more workers are being recalled this week as the company begins production of 1977 auto frames.

About 700 employees were laid off or went on vacation May 28 as the frame production equipment was modified for the first major change in frames since 1970. Production will begin with one shift operating one of the company's two production lines. A second shift is expected to start about July 6.

The schedule calls for the opening of the second production line Aug. 9 with nearly full production in late August or early September, depending upon customer requirements. Since each line must be closed one shift (eight hours) each day for routine maintenance, maximum production at the local plant is two shifts on each of the two lines, a total of four shifts per day.

A statement released by a company official Friday on the resumption of production follows: Limited production of 1977 model automobile frames is scheduled to begin sometime during the week of June 28 at the A. O. Smith Corp. plant in Granite City. "The plant shut down for retooling and equipment modification work associated with the production of the new frames on May 28. The company will begin recalling employees currently on layoff as a result of the model changeover during the week of June 28."

A company spokesman indicated current planning would call for all employees to be back to work by about the first week of August.

The Granite City plant is a major supplier of automobile frames to General Motors Corp. for use in standard-sized Chevrolet, Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac cars.

Those attending Boys State are placed at random in mythical cities and counties. They participate in choosing their own city, county and state officials—from alderman to governor—in accordance with regular election procedures.

The program was originated in Illinois by the American Legion in 1924. The plan has been adopted by the national organization of the American Legion and is now in operation in all 50 states.

Hospital pharmacy head wins regional award

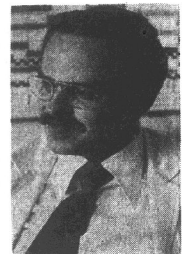

St. Elizabeth Hospital pharmacy director David E. Davis has been named pharmacist of the year by the Hospital Pharmacy Association of Greater St. Louis and was honored at the association's June dinner meeting in St. Louis.

This particular award is given annually in recognition of outstanding accomplishments in the area of pharmacy. Names and resumes are submitted by the association's members and then a committee selects the recipient on that merit.

Among the cited accomplishments of the St. Elizabeth Hospital pharmacy are the I.V. additive program, the patient profile cards, prescription filling from a doctor's copy and longer hours of service, Davis said. Some of these features are standard procedure at hospitals now, he added, but St. Elizabeth's pharmacy has been practicing these points for four years. "I could not have done this (receive the award) single-handedly. We have a progressive pharmacy due to our fine staff. I don't view this as a personal award; I view it as a result of a team effort. This is a vote of confidence for our pharmacy," Davis said.

A 1963 graduate of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, Davis worked for six years at Lutheran Hospital in St. Louis, serving four years as assistant director there. He has been director at St. Elizabeth's since August 1972.

When Davis joined St. Elizabeth in 1969, he recalls, Sister Benedict was the only other pharmacist and the staff was made up of approximately six persons. Today the pharmacy has about 18 members. Davis' family is health field-oriented — his younger brother is director of pharmacy at St. Louis City Hospital (where this brother's wife is a pharmacist, also), and Davis' wife is a nurse — but he credits his career interest to his father, who has operated a corner drug store in South St. Louis since 1935. "I grew up behind the counter in a drug store," he said.

As recipient of the Hospital Association's award, Davis will serve as chairman of the award committee for the following year.

Workshop on nursing homes

A special workshop designed for nursing home personnel is being sponsored by the gerontology program and the School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Wednesday, June 30.

Reality orientation and remediation therapy training is intended to help personnel — working with the disabled and aging — gain awareness of the need for significance of special methods in the total "long term care-rehabilitation" approach.

Primary consultant for the workshop is Mary Ann Travis, an activity program consultant for Nursing Home Managers. Other consultants are Ira H. Ehrlich of the St. Louis University Institute of Applied Gerontology and Eileen G. Witte, director of personnel services for Psychological Associates.

Topics to be covered include: sensory loss in older adults — "I'm so tired of shouting!"; sensory deprivation in institutions — "She's in the wrong room again!"; and social losses in older adults — "What are you saving me for?"

Information on the workshop and the SIUE gerontology program is available from the program secretary at 692-2202.

For only $1.58, you can make a ten-minute Long Distance call to the farthest point in the United States.

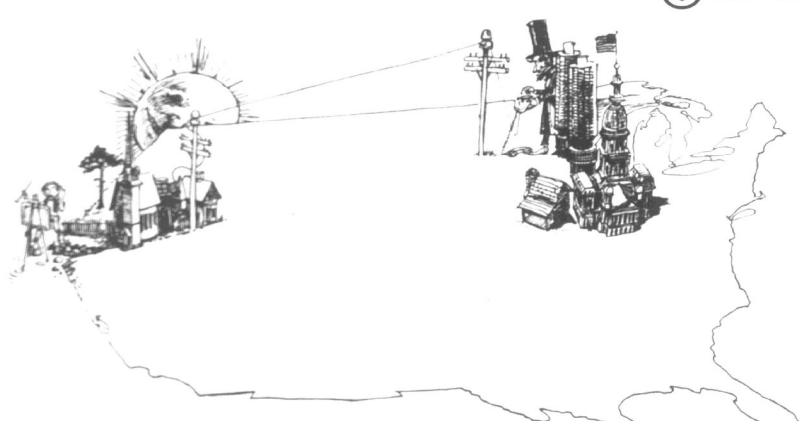

It's almost 2,000 miles from Illinois to Patrick's Point in northern California. By our calculations, it's about the farthest point from Illinois in the United States (excluding Alaska and Hawaii).

Yet for just $1.58, you can call Patrick's Point by Long Distance and talk for ten minutes.

All you have to do is dial direct. And call on the weekend — anytime Saturday or before 5 p.m. Sunday.

Now if you can make a ten-minute call as far away as Patrick's Point for only $1.58 — obviously, it would cost even less to call Topeka or Pittsburgh or just about anywhere else in the U.S.

Port site work, I-270 weight stations endorsed

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board and of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, has announced that the Council, last week endorsed three projects for Madison County.

If approved by federal and state agencies, the projects would result in over $7 million in funds. They call for the construction of two weigh stations on Interstate 270, improvements to the Tri-City Regional Port District, and construction of a new water distribution system in Jarvis Township.

The two weigh stations would be built between the Chain of Rocks Bridge over the Mississippi River and the Canal Bridge, one on each lane of I-270.

The stations are to serve as a "port of entry" for trucks from the Alton and Quad-City areas. The proposed location was coordinated with the Illinois State Police and the Committee on Truck Weigh Stations.

The port project would include site improvements in an area immediately north of the heavily used portion of the Tri-City Regional Port District. This is the largest area of expansion for future port-related industrial growth, it was noted.

The Jarvis Township application seeks funds for construction of a new water distribution system which would provide portable water for residents of Jarvis Township Public Water Supply District No. 1. At the present time, residents are relying upon shallow wells and cisterns for water.

All the applications will be forwarded to appropriate state and federal agencies for action. The Gateway Council endorsed an urban mass transportation operating assistance grant which is to assist the Bi-State Development Agency in maintaining and improving mass transportation in the St. Louis Metropolitan area.

Hagnauer noted that the grant, if approved by the federal Department of Transportation, would result in over $8 million in funds to be matched by revenue from St. Louis City and County and the Illinois Downstate Operating Assistance fund.

The grant is needed because Bi-State has increased its level of service by approximately eight per cent, it was related. Gateway last week initiated a memorandum of understanding with the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (SILEC).

The memorandum provides a basic framework for information sharing, coordinated planning and overall cooperation between the two agencies, Hagnauer said. Specifically, the agencies have agreed that:

1. The executive directors of both agencies sit on each other's boards as non-voting members.
2. At least twice yearly the two agencies hold a joint staff meeting.
3. Gateway and SILEC use the same base data, statistics and projections for their planning responsibilities.
4. SILEC submit to Gateway its recommendations and comments on criminal justice and related applications for federal funds. Gateway will continue as the areawide clearinghouse for all such applications.
5. Both agencies develop a routine exchange and sharing of information.

The agreement is similar to that in force between the Gateway Council and the Missouri Council on Criminal Justice - Region 5.

Beverage container bill killed

Legislation that would "drastically affect the jobs of thousands of workers" in the Madison County area has been killed in the House Environmental and Natural Resources Committee, of which Sam W. Wolf, D-Granite City, is a member.

House Bill 1638, better known as the Beverage Container Act, is a bill similar to the Oregon bottle bill that would ban all non-returnable beverage containers.

Rep. Wolf commented to the committee, "The Utopian bill would have resulted in loss of thousands of jobs in the steel and manufacturing industry vital to the economic growth of this district."

BUS, CAR COLLISION
David Patterson, 21, of No. 1 Bermuda Lane was treated for a pain in the knee, x-rayed and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital at 6 p.m. Thursday. An auto driven by Patterson and a Bi-State bus, driven by a Stanley Hampton, collided in the 1300 block of Madison Avenue.

Army backs dam replacement

By LESTER BELL

Washington Bureau

The Army Corps of Engineers has asked Congress to authorize replacement of Locks and Dam 26 at Alton while conceding at the same time that the administration is seeking a delay.

Maj. Gen. Ernest Graves, testifying before the Senate Water Resources Subcommittee, restated the Army's March 15 report recommending Congressional approval of a new dam and a 110-foot by 1,200-foot replacement lock about two miles downstream from the present aging facility.

The proposal also provides for addition of an auxiliary lock at such time as Congress may authorize one.

Gen. Graves, director of civil works, said he wished to "stress at the outset that the administration has not taken a final decision" but rather believes Congress should postpone action until studies are completed and questions about capacity and costs are resolved.

Robert H. Binder, a department of Transportation witness, affirmed the administration position.

The administration believes that Congress should defer legislative action respecting the locks and dam at Alton until after completion of the environmental impact statement and the Corps' final report and satisfactory resolution of the questions raised about capacity and costs.

Said Binder, assistant secretary for policy, plans and international affairs, "In response to questions, said the Corps hopes to complete its review, the chief's final report and the environmental impact statement late this month or early in July and forward it to the Senate Public Works Committee and the secretary of the Army at the same time."

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, subcommittee chairman, said the condition of Locks and Dam 26 a "vital" link in the inland waterway, "clearly indicates that action is needed."

Noting that no other subject has received as much attention during his tenure, Gravel said "this committee will find a solution and act with dispatch."

Gravel had originally scheduled three days of hearings he added an extra day. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., hailed the administration's call for a delay as "full on disavowal" of his bill, S. 3425, to prevent replacement of Locks and Dam 26 until full scale studies of its economic and environmental consequences have been made.

"Incidentally," Nelson said in a statement, "the Army Corps of Engineers has urged us to authorize the construction of this dam on the basis of totally inadequate information."

Nelson said the project would be the first step in a $10 billion public works project that could "fundamentally alter" Midwest commerce and have a "devastating effect" on the Mississippi River environment.

Meanwhile, 17 supporters of the project urged Illinois members of Congress to support the Alton replacement.

Led by Illinois Farm Bureau President Harold B. Steele, the delegation included David

Letter From Springfield

State identification cards to be issued

Illinois identification cards will be available to all Illinois residents, beginning next year. At the present time, a person's driver's license is normally used as a means of identification when writing a check or making a purchase, or for other reasons.

If one does not have a driver's license, however, it is of tremendous difficulty to provide suitable identification.

Recently enacted legislation provides that, next year, any person may obtain an official Identification Card from the secretary of state for a fee of $4. This ID card will include a person's photograph, as well as Social Security number, birthday and other useful information.

The card will be issued for a five-year period, and may be used for identification purposes for any lawful situation.

Almost one-fourth of the Illinois state budget is spent on welfare.

Here is how Illinois compares with our neighboring states in the amount of monthly welfare payments per family:

The average family payment in Illinois, and nearby states, is as follows:
Illinois - $236 per month
Missouri - $140 per month
Iowa - $273 per month
Indiana - $167 per month
Kentucky - $173 per month

The above payments are additional to certain medical, food stamp, dental, prescription and hospitalization benefits paid.

Victims of violent crimes may now be eligible for compensation.

In an effort to help reduce the financial burdens often imposed on innocent persons injured by violent crimes, and also to encourage cooperation with law enforcement agencies, the state of Illinois has established a program to help compensate the innocent victims of violent crimes or their dependents.

Those who were dependent upon a crime victim for support or the injured victim are eligible for financial help up to a maximum limit of $10,000.

Victims must cooperate fully with proper police authorities and file notice of intent to file claim within six months of injury with Attorney General, 500 S. 2nd St. Springfield, Ill. Additional information is available by contacting my legislative office at 2026 State Office Building, Springfield, Ill.

Additional protection for co-sponsors of notes has recently been enacted into law.

This new legislation provides that where a note or obligation with a co-signer becomes delinquent the co-signer shall not be called upon to pay until all ordinary legal means have been used to collect the debt from the primary borrower who has received the goods or services purchased.

Previously whether a co-signer had received the benefit of goods or service for the obligation incurred, he could be held primarily accountable for payment of the debt—rather than as the party of last resort, as the law now provides.

Efforts to broaden gambling laws in Illinois continue in the legislature.

The most recent attempts involve efforts to legalize policy games. In my view, these efforts must be resisted, as this form of gambling is the most regressive taxation of all. The victims who bear the losses are those who can least afford them.

Recent reports from the state lottery reveal that twice as many tickets are sold in areas where the rate of unemployment and those on welfare is the greatest.

Far from improving society by raising revenues, increased gambling laws take further from those who can least afford it. They also increase the opportunity for graft and corruption, and provide a disappointing and questionable source for funding government.

Alumni group elects Yurko and Buenger

Paul Czerniack of Collinsville has assumed his duties as president of the Alumni Association of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. His nomination was confirmed at the annual meeting of the association, held last week at the Sunset Hill Holiday Inn.

Other officers elected were L. Thomas Lakin, East Alton, president elect; Lendell Phelps, Edwardsville, vice president; and Gail Buenger, Granite City, treasurer.

Newly-elected board members are Edward J. Hunkeler, St. Louis; John Hunter Jr., Edwardsville; Alvin Johnson, Alton; Dr. John Uram, East Alton; and Nancy LaFlore, Florissant, Mo.

Re-elected to three-year terms were Eugene Pitts, Edwardsville; Mrs. Larry Neemann, Collinsville; David A. Hill, Springfield; and Andrew Yurko, Mitchell.

Returning as officers of the SILEC Alumni Association are Donald Kraushaar, Bethalto, president; Mrs. Neemann, vice president; and William Graeb, Collinsville, treasurer.

GC city costs top $3.4 million

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Expenditures out of Granite City's general fund during the 1975-76 fiscal year totaled $3,469,879 for all operating purposes, including $5,056,474 in salaries, City Clerk Robert Stevens informed the City Council in an annual report last week.

Stevens' report said the total expenditures were against a budget of $4,091,742, showing that city costs were $621,863 less than the total amount budgeted for all general fund purposes.

Revenue in the general fund during the fiscal year which ended April 30 amounted to $3,955,183, of which $1,601,332 was in tax funds, the report said. The city's allocation of state sales taxes totaled $1,292,048 during the year, while Granite City's share of state income tax payments totaled $452,831.

Other items of income included $452,771 in revenue from the sale of licenses and permits and $50,476 in parking meter fees.

Stevens said that during the year it was necessary to make fund transfer from working cash, sales tax and income tax accounts to supplement operating accounts in the amount of $2,080,454, with an additional $116,900 transferred from the special fire fund, special police fund, special sanitation fund and the unclaimed rebate fund.

"During the fiscal year we expended $208,721 from the OEP (Office of Emergency Preparedness) fund for sewer brakes," Stevens said. "We earned $3,835 interest in this account. We still have some 20 sewer breaks of which ten are being pumped by submersible pumps. After the audit by the OEP the city was assured of receiving approximately $200,000 additional, which may be received later in this fiscal year."

Federal revenue sharing funds received by the city during the 1975-76 year totaled $457,067, on which $24,967 in interest was earned while the funds were on deposit, the report added. Expenditures from the revenue sharing funds included $112,897 to supplement the police department payroll, $81,548 for the fire department payroll and $4,831 for salaries for crossing guards.

Other revenue sharing payments included $14,960 for sidewalk construction, $30,325 for ten new police cars, $42,683 for sanitary sewer repairs and $33,737 for Opelcon equipment.

Other expenditures out of the federal revenue sharing accounts which financed many of the city's capital improvements last year included $66,102 for street department payroll, $13,504 for asphalt street overlay and an additional $42,683 for sanitary sewer repairs.

"Again, the past year has seen inflation contribute to higher costs," Stevens said in the report. "This will require the city to be very watchful regarding its funds. The federal funds are slow in coming in and tax monies will be very late this year due to a dispute on rates."

"It could be as late as August or September before tax monies can be expected this year. Cooperation from all departments will be necessary to see us through the 1976-77 fiscal year."

The largest expenditure for operation of any single city department in the general fund was a total of $818,874 for the police department, according to Stevens' report. Actual fiscal year expenditures for the department were well within the budget of $890,728.

Salary payments in the police department totaled $453,472 against a salary budget of $706,226, while other expenses for supplies, materials and equipment amounted to $165,402 against a budget of $184,502.

For operation of the fire department, last year's expenditures totaled $615,572, also within the department's total budget of $644,718. Fire department salaries totaled $531,446 against a budget of $557,196, while other expenses were $84,126 within the budget of $87,522.

Street department expenses totaled $525,812 against a budget of $560,620. This included $344,290 in salaries under a budget of $393,085, and other expenses of $161,421 under a budget of $167,534.

Sanitation department expenses totaled $390,541, with only $4,282 of this paid in salaries. The remaining $386,259 represents the cost of the city's trash collection contract.

Of the 37 separate departmental accounts in the general fund, expenditures during the last fiscal year exceeded the budget in only eight of these, but only by small amounts.

Expenditures in the parking meter fund, for example, totaled $102,902 against a total budget of $97,360. In this instance, salary expenditures of $37,606 exceeded the budget of $55,953 and other expenses of $45,306 exceeded the budget of $41,427 for that purpose.

Payments into the municipal retirement fund totaled $165,426 under a budget of $156,000.

Total expenditures for aldermen's salaries during the year amounted to $45,050 under a budget of $46,200.

Recreation program to start at 'bubble'

A co-recreational and intramural summer sports program will begin at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville at the "bubble gym" July 6.

The program will include racquetball, tennis, table tennis, outside volleyball, billiards, hole-in-one golf, and softball (both 12 and 16-inch).

"The difference between 12 and 16-inch is the size of the ball used in the game and the curve thrown in the pitch," said Keith Wadell, coordinator of the intramural program.

Each sport has three divisions of coed, student men and student women.

The last day for registration in softball, 12 and 16-inch, and all three divisions, is June 29.

Deadline for registration in racquetball, all three divisions, and student men's and women's table tennis is July 6. For tennis, the deadline in all three divisions is July 12.

The first day of play for both kinds of softball in all three divisions is July 6, and teams may reserve a field from 2:30 until 8 p.m. that day.

On July 12, racquetball for all three divisions begins, and a court may be scheduled at any time between the hours of 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Billiards and table tennis also begin the same day, but the time is to be announced later for table reservations.

Participants in the hole-in-one golf tournament may enter at any time between July 19 and

26. "This is a contest to see how close a person can come to hitting a pin which is inside a 20-ft-diameter ring," Wadell said. All sports, in which faculty, staff and students will compete together, will be either double or single elimination.

Trophies will be awarded to all first, second and third-place finishers in all tournaments, according to Wadell. "The program will finish at the end of the eight-week quarter," he said.

Entry applications for all activities can be obtained from the Intramural Office at the SIUE Bubble Gym, or information may be secured at 692-3984.

Kiwanis plans "hole-in-one"

The Breakfast Kiwanis Club at its Thursday morning meeting in Charlie's Restaurant established the dates of Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 11 and 12, for the group's annual "hole-in-one" tournament at the Arlington Golf Club.

At the Kiwanis meeting, President Norman Kinder reminded the members that this is the club's major money-raising effort of the year and will require participation by the entire membership. Monies raised by the event are used by the local service club for civic projects.

The group will hold a ladies' night Thursday, July 8. A discussion was held on how the Kiwanians could help the area's special education program.

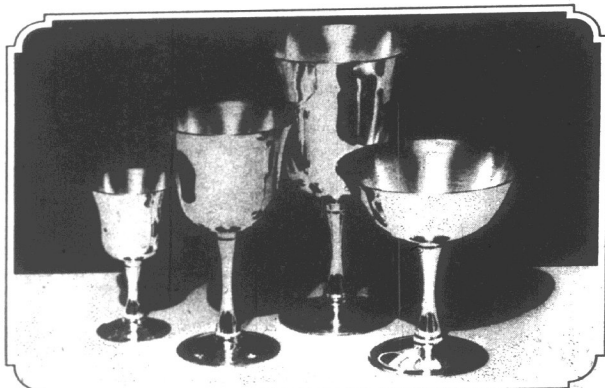

Next Thursday morning, Dr. Thomas Layloff, director of the National Drug Analysis Center in St. Louis for the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), will be the guest speaker.

Another coal conversion plant okayed for state

Gov. Dan Walker on Thursday announced the Illinois Coal Gasification Group has been selected by the federal government to build the largest federally-funded demonstration coal conversion plant in the nation—larger than the Coolidge facility which was awarded to Illinois last year.

The new facility is to be built in Perry County, Coalton is in St. Clair County.

The new project ultimately is to cost $275 million and is to be built in three phases.

When completed, it will use 2,700 tons of Illinois coal per day to produce pipeline quality synthetic natural gas at the rate of 17.3 million cubic feet per day and synthetic crude oil at the rate of 2,000 barrels per day, it was related.

The Perry County project is the third major coal conversion project awarded to Illinois. It was preceded by the $237 million Coalton project in New Athens and the $105 million Powerplant plant near Pekin.

Total investment in the three projects is valued at $618 million.

Gov. Walker said, "This latest award means more jobs and greater use of Illinois' vast coal resources. It is one more indication that private business feels that Illinois is a good place to locate."

"In particular, the new project will be another major boost for the economy of Southern Illinois."

"Five states with five consortiums of utilities entered bids for the project."

"The Perry County project and Coalton development culminate more than three years of effort to improve the economy of the state, and to capitalize on our natural resources while preserving the environment from air pollution. It is also gratifying to help an area of the state that needs help."

The U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) Agency awarded an engineering contract for the first phase, which will cost $20 million.

Construct negotiations for Phase I work will begin immediately. Work on Phase I is expected to last 20 months. The initial phase will be funded entirely by the federal government.

The state Division of Energy will begin a review process to determine how much state bond money to recommend as the state's financial participation in the two future phases of the project.

The Illinois Coal Gasification Group, which is made up of five Illinois gas utilities, filed plans for the plant with ERDA in January. They are: Northern Illinois Gas Co., Aurora; People's Gas Light and Coke Co., Chicago; Central Illinois Public Service Co., Springfield; Central Illinois Light Co., Peoria; and North Shore Gas Co., Waukegan.

Members of the group supply natural gas service to about 86 per cent of the state's population.

Construction of the plant will employ 1,900 workers and, when it is completed, operation of the plant will provide 415 permanent jobs.

After the 20-month development and engineering stage—the phase funded with the 100 per cent federal award announced Thursday—plant construction is to take about 34 months.

The third phase—operation, testing and evaluation—is to take 42 months.

After this demonstration phase is completed in 1984, the plant is to be scaled up to a commercial-size facility for the five utilities.

The $618 million investment is believed to make Illinois the leading state in developing alternate sources of energy.

In addition to Illinois, a similar project was awarded to Ohio last week.

Mercer wins twice in big inter-city weekend

Highland-Piercen took over sole possession of first place in Illinois Inter-City Baseball League standings during the weekend, sweeping four straight games. The Highland team won 6-5 and 13-6 Saturday over Thomas at Wilson Park, and then blanked East Alton's Fairfax twice Sunday, 7-6 and 15-4.

Granite City's Mercer squashed lead Panama twice yesterday at Panama, 8-2 and 13-4 in league competition.

Thomas took a 1-0 first inning lead when Stan Hale and Gene McDonald walked and Jim Rains got a hit, and then added two runs in the third. Hale singled, Gene Logan, Jim Rains and Roger Cookley all walked and Don Rains hit a sacrifice fly.

Highland moved ahead 4-3 in the third and Thomas regained the lead in the sixth with two runs as Rains singled, Jim Brawley walked, Bill Butler singled and Jim Cramer grounded out.

Highland scored twice in the seventh. The visitors took a big early lead in the second game of the twelfth, scoring a run in the first, five in the second, two in the fourth, one in the fifth and four in the seventh inning.

Thomas scored once in the second on walks to Cookley, Dave Melber and Rains and a groundout by John Young.

In the fourth, Thomas tallied twice, Jeff Worthen walked and Young tripled and scored on a passed ball.

Five Thomas runners reached home in the sixth aided by hits by Melber, Worthen, Hale, Logan and Bixler and walks to Rains, Young, and Mike Waldo.

Highland now has a 13-5 record, Mercer is 11-5. East Alton Vanc 11-6, Fairfax 8-8.

News notes

Yesterday was the warmest day of 1976 thus far, with 93 degrees recorded.

July 2, 3 and 4 are the dates of "Aggie," part one of this year's Duquoin State Fair. Tractor pulls, livestock shows, agricultural exhibits, a "Glee" Roy Rogers and Dale Evans will be highlights. Part two of the fair will begin Aug. 28 and Sept. 4 with the running of the classic Hambleton horse race.

The Illinois State Museum will offer Fourth of July recreation in Springfield. The museum will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, July 3 and 4. The 29th Illinois Invitational Art Exhibition will begin Sunday, July 4, when the museum opens at 1:30 p.m.

Illinois Director of Law Enforcement Harvey N. Johnson Jr. last week cautioned against use of fireworks, which are illegal in Illinois unless a special fireworks permit is obtained. The state fire marshal also warned that fireworks are dangerous, adding that he will do everything in his power to enforce the Illinois anti-fireworks law.

The Illinois Department of Public Health has awarded funds to 40 health departments in Illinois to help combat the spread of mosquitoes which spread St. Louis Encephalitis. The money will be used to inform the public and local-level government officials about control of mosquitoes.

Work doubled in the fourth and scored on an error. Mercer's bats put eight runs on the board in the sixth. Dave Schaeke walked, his were collected by Worthen, Bixler and Rains. Young, and Mike Waldo.

Highland now has a 13-5 record, Mercer is 11-5. East Alton Vanc 11-6, Fairfax 8-8.

Mr. Wuertley had been a drag racer many years and recently had been driving the Wheelie Wuerley Overdrive top eliminator car, a top eliminator 1965 Chevrolet.

No hearing date on health parlor

A hearing on an injunction proceeding against the city of Madison, in which Louis E. and Betty McCoy of the Quad-City Health Systems seek to void a license revocation order, was not held Friday, as scheduled, due to a heavy court calendar.

A new date has not been set. Casper S. Nighobossian, city attorney for Madison, said a date should be set within 30 days.

The parlor will remain open until the case is heard, according to Nighobossian. The main legal question, according to Attorney Harry Hartman, representing the licensee, is a constitutional one.

Harry Hartman, originally scheduled for July 14, has rescheduled his performance for June 30 because of the Democratic National Convention, at which Chapin is a voting delegate from Long Island.

Chapin, who has enthralled RF audiences in years past with his combination of banter and story-songs, will be performing a number of his hits, including his now classic "Taxi" and "Gimme the O'Grady."

Oppose volunteer police

The Nameoki Town Board is to open bids tonight for a car and equipment needed to establish an auxiliary police unit in Nameoki Township Precincts 3, 5 and 11.

Federal revenue sharing funds are being used to pay for the equipment, which is to be used by volunteer "supervisors of safety" under the control of Madison County Sheriff John Maers.

Meanwhile, petitions bearing the signatures of about 200 persons opposing formation of the auxiliary department are being sent to the civil rights division of the federal revenue sharing office in Washington, D.C., and to Sheriff Maers, it was announced today.

A spokeswoman for the group opposing creation of the auxiliary department also said the group is attempting to determine how to obtain a court ruling on whether the volunteer policemen have the authority to carry firearms.

It is not known if the objectors will discuss the issue at tonight's Nameoki Town Board of Auditors meeting, which begins at 7 o'clock in the Town Hall, 4450 Highway 162. The bids will be opened during that meeting.

Holiday schedule at 'Y'

During the week beginning today and continuing through July 3, the 'Y' will operate on a special holiday schedule rather than the usual, closed hours, according to Harold R. Rudolph, executive director.

The 'Y' will have fun events in the morning and afternoon in the pool, the 'Y' Arcade game room will be open, and gym games will be supervised during the day.

None of the usual swim classes, dance classes or gymnastics will be held since many families may be on vacation during the week. Rudolph said.

The 'Y' will be closed Monday, July 5, for Independence Day.

Many of the activities on Thursday, July 3, also will be involved in the Bicentennial Parade and other activities, he said.

Classes will be resumed on Tuesday, July 6. Registration for them is being conducted now.

NAMEOKI RESIDENCE of more than a century ago is shown in this early Quad-City sketch. The home and garden area were utilized by B. F. Squires and were owned by the Irish family. Trains operated here but it was basically a "horse and buggy" era, since motor vehicles had not yet been invented.

Senators push to replace dam

Immediate congressional authorization for replacement of Locks and Dam 26 at Alton was urged last week by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., and Rep. Paul Findley, R-20th Dist.

Arguing Illinois' economic interests, they testified before the Senate Water Resources subcommittee in support of the Army Corps of Engineers' recommendation that a new 1,200-foot lock and dam be built two miles downstream as a replacement for the weakened 38-year-old structure.

Percy's support, however, first inspection trip to the Alton facility.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., has sponsored a bill (S. 3506) supporting the Army's recommendation while revoking any authority for 12-foot channel studies on the upper Mississippi.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., has an opposing bill (S. 3425) which would block construction at Alton pending further studies. Nelson's bill would also require the corps to ask congress for funds to keep the existing dam operational and to implement traffic control to reduce congestion.

The three Illinoisans argued that repairs would cost as much as replacement with no guarantee against recurring breakdowns. Stevenson and Findley insisted that the question of users' fees is a separate issue and should not becloud the crucial decision on the Alton facility.

"We need to begin construction now of a facility which can accommodate increased traffic in the future," Percy said. "If we eventually learn that such increased capacity is necessary."

"Although I will not reach a final decision until I visit the site, I intend at the time to support S. 3506 introduced by Senator Mondale," Percy went on to say, terming the bill the "most reasonable approach now under consideration."

Percy said, however, if the committee does not endorse the Mondale bill he would urge it to make some "specific recommendations" for proceeding.

"We simply cannot delay any longer," Percy said.

Stevenson also stressed speed.

"I urge the committee to approve a locks and dam 26 replacement substantially in accord with the recommendation of the chief of engineers: a new dam and one 1,200-foot lock designed and constructed so as to accommodate an auxiliary lock," Stevenson said.

"This second lock can be authorized if additional studies provide a definitive answer on its need and size."

Stevenson noted that a single 1,200-foot lock and dam at Alton would take eight years to build. It would have a capacity of 86 million tons (annually).

"With 1986 traffic projections at 85 million tons, the single lock will be almost at capacity the day it opens to traffic," Stevenson continued. "A second lock probably will be needed. But all that is required now is the authorization for a new dam and lock. And that is essential—now."

Findley, in whose congressional district the Alton facility is situated, noted that he and Rep. Melvin Price, D-E. St. Louis, sponsored a bill to build two new 1,200-foot locks.

"Construction twin 1,200-foot locks at this time is probably unnecessary and certainly unpopular," Findley said.

"While I at first preferred this course of action, I am willing today to consider some alternative which can garner more support."

Findley said the most feasible alternative "is to authorize construction of a single 1,200-foot lock which would double capacity so that barges would no longer have to double-lock."

He said this doubled capacity can be obtained for "roughly the same amount of money" repairs would require.

"That is a rare bargain for taxpayers and one which should be turned aside only for compelling reasons."

Findley warned against further studies and delays.

He said the present Alton facility "may collapse" and if that occurs, the economy of the Midwest and probably the nation would "be plunged into a

Choral auditions

Auditions for a 40-voice chorus to sing with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in its Mississippi River Festival performance Sunday, Aug. 15, will be held tomorrow and Wednesday, according to Leonard Van Camp, director of choral music at SIUE, and director of the MRF Chorus.

Ten-minute auditions will be held between the hours of 5 and 10 p.m. in Van Camp's office, Room 0179, in the SIUE Communications Building.

Appointments may be made by calling the SIUE department of music, 692-3900. Van Camp said he will be looking for "vocal quality, musicianship and sight reading ability."

Rehearsals for the chorus will be held nightly during the week preceding the performance, beginning Sunday, Aug. 8. Participants will receive a small stipend for their services, Van Camp said.

The Symphony will be under the direction of Franz Allers, and the groups will perform music by Cole Porter and Jerome Kern and the concert version of Porgy and Bess, by George Gershwin.

Solists will be Betty Jones, soprano, and Robert Moseley, baritone.

Educational TV station at SIUE voted by legislators

The Illinois House Friday night approved 108-23 a bill providing $1,500,000 for educational television transmissions from SIUE to a low-income area. The Senate acted previously, and the bill now goes to the governor.

State Rep. Sam Wolf, Granite City Democrat, the sponsor, noted that the House earlier voted a smaller amount and then converted in the Senate decision that the full request was needed. There already are color television studios at the local university.

Funding is to be from Capital Development Board bond transactions, Rep. Wolf told the Press-Record. Some changes are to be made in the studio, and a transmitting tower and building are to be constructed.

The House completed legislative action Friday with a 103-33 vote to link the maximum home mortgage interest rate in Illinois to the national economy. The limit is to be 2.5 per cent higher than the long-term rate for federal bonds.

Legislative deliberations continued through the weekend as efforts were made to adjourn the spring session by mid-July. Action was completed on abolishing the state inheritance tax exemption.

The House voted to urge the state fire marshal to authorize self-service gasoline stations, and acted to legalize policy gambling by citizens. The policy proposal was sent to the Senate.

By 12:33 Friday the House voted to allow party central committees to nominate county candidates when there is a vacancy after primary filing has ended.

Senate President Cecil Parize told fellow senators Friday that Equal Rights Amendment ratification "will pass one day, but this is not the day." He said he won't call for another vote.

Labor Temple bonds retired

The Labor Temple Association paid off the last of its debt for construction of the Labor Temple at 2014 State St. Friday.

In a brief ceremony at the offices of Laborers Local 397, Carl Heaton, president of the Labor Temple Association for 40 years prior to his retirement earlier this year, paid off $4,700 in outstanding bonds which were held by the Laborers Union.

The payment represented the last of $47,000 bond debt incurred in 1935 to pay off the balance of a $95,000 obligation resulting from construction of the Labor Temple in 1935.

Heaton made the payment Friday because of his interest in the Labor Temple building over 41 years of his service as president of the association.

Edwin F. Buske, secretary-treasurer of the association, said that when the building first was completed, the debt was to be retired under a plan by which union members were to give one day's pay per year.

this session because it would lose. During the spring, the ERA proposal fell eight votes short of the 36 needed in the Senate.

The General Assembly completed action to create a state agency with power to develop distressed areas like East St. Louis. The Senate vote Friday was 31-19.

Butcher allegedly left his auto at a nearby Granite City Steel parking lot, but was arrested at his home after being traced through the auto's license plate number and a description obtained from a witness, police reported.

He told police the accident occurred after he started to turn onto Edwardsville Road but was forced to drive straight ahead when his brakes failed. Butcher was charged with having no valid vehicle registration, no driver's license, illegal transportation of liquor, defective brakes, and leaving the scene of an accident involving injuries.

He is also being held in Madison County jail on a warrant issued by Cook County charging him with driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident in that county, involving personal injuries.

Mrs. Lohman was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for injuries to the left side of her head and left shoulder, and was released. Her son also was taken to the hospital and treated for neck pains. He was released to consult a physician.

The all-day activities will feature a "600 in '76" attendance goal for Sunday School, a brass quintet from Scott Air Force Base, a special presentation of Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City, a Bicentennial play and special patriotic messages by Dr. William J. Fritts, pastor.

The church is located at 2600 Edwards St. Services will begin at 9:30 a.m. July 4.

Two injured, one charged in accident

A two-car accident Thursday at 20th Street and Edwardsville Road resulted in injury to a mother and son in one vehicle, and with the driver of a second auto being charged with traffic violations, including leaving the scene of an accident with injuries involved.

Connie M. Lohman, 19, of 2034 Milan Ave., Madison, and her son, Eric, age 2, were injured when attempting to turn left from Edwardsville Road onto 20th Street and their auto was struck by one driven by Robert E. Butcher of 2033 Thirteenth Street, who allegedly left the scene.

Aerospace education emphasis

"Come fly with me" is not an idle invitation coming from Bob Williams, instructor in elementary education at SIUE. He will instruct a course for elementary teachers this summer which includes an overnight flight by the Air Force to Dayton, Ohio.

The workshop in aerospace education, designed to increase elementary teachers' knowledge of flight dynamics, will include visits to several area airports, flying experiences and rocket, model plane and kite demonstrations. The course will be directed toward helping teachers create instructional techniques and strategies to help their students utilize aerospace sciences as learning resources, Williams said.

Sessions will begin July 12 and continue for six days, meeting daily from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Beginning sessions will convene at the Tosovsky Center located at the northeast edge of the local campus.

Participants will construct and fly their own model airplanes, rockets and kites. The public will be invited to watch the class members launch their own creations and view U.S. Army helicopter demonstrations at the SIUE soccer field.

As part of the coursework the students will tour the Civic Memorial Airport tower and hangar facilities at Beshel's Tower's multiple flights will be scheduled.

Other field trips will include a visit to McDonnell Douglas in St. Louis, Crank Airlines and Parks Air College, as well as a trip to the Planetarium in Forest Park.

From North Air Force Base

the class will be airlifted by a U.S. Air Force C-130 to Ohio, where the students will visit the National Air Museum. They will remain in Dayton overnight and fly home the following day. Aviation leaders will give class lectures and demonstrations during the workshop. Lt. Col. Pat Marcella of the Air Force has been assigned to assist Williams in instructing the course. On-the-spot lectures and demonstrations by aviation personnel will be given to the students during all field trips. A National Aeronautics and Space Administration mobile unit will visit the campus during the workshop, and an Air Force helicopter will participate in the exercises at the soccer field.

The workshop will be limited to 40 participants. Registration will be accepted through the first session, on a first-come, first-served basis.

Renews plea for quarterly payments of school funds

Comptroller George W. Lindberg last week renewed his call for the General Assembly to split the fall lump sum payment for special education and pupil transportation into quarterly payments.

In his monthly financial report, Lindberg said, "The situation is clear. There will be a cash shortage and an extended period of slow pay beginning this September or October if nothing is done."

The quarterly payments are a part of the 19-point plan the comptroller recommended to the legislature on June 16, a plan aimed at getting the state through its available cash crunch without a tax hike.

The comptroller urged that the state's common schools be reimbursed $1.5 million to make up for interest lost as a result of quarterly payments. "This would make the change fair to the schools," he said.

If the $150 million special education and pupil transportation reimbursement is made this September as now required, there will not be enough money to meet other state obligations on time," Lindberg said. "After two years of deficit spending, there is no more cash cushion to draw upon."

Presbyterian Women hear Mrs. Anderson

Mrs. Louise Anderson led a discussion on a bible study lesson at a meeting last week of the Presbyterian Women held at the church.

She also gave the lesson taken from the book of Mark, Chapter Six and Mrs. Marian Pierson was in charge of the Fellowship of the Least One.

Hostess Mrs. Edith Simpson served a dessert luncheon at noon to those named and named. Mrs. Anderson, Fern Mitchell, Irma Taylor, Bonnie Britton and Wilma Sellers.

Rotarians honor Schmitt, install Bristol at dinner

Granite City Rotarians honored Edwin C. Schmitt, a 40-year member, by designating him Friday evening as a Paul Harris Fellow of Rotary International.

An extensive scholarship-fellowship program financed by Rotarians' contributions is named after Harris, founder of the organization. Granite City members honored previously are George T. Wilkins and Kenneth Evers, past district governors.

Presentation of a medallion, certificate and other awards was made by the previous president and President Bill H. Froeming.

Officers installed by Past President Albert H. Froeming for the July 1976-June 1977 year included Steven E. Bristol, a local realtor as president; Donald Van Horn, first vice-president; Terrell second vice-president; Robert W. Stevens, secretary; John Smith, assistant secretary; Earl G. Detzner, treasurer; Paul Kado, assistant treasurer; James Bowman, sergeant at arms; and Raymond Davis, assistant sergeant at arms.

Guest speakers were Steve Weaver, director of public relations of the St. Louis Blues professional soccer team, and Paul McBride, a ten-year member of the Stars team.

Weaver stressed that goals can be attained through planning, desire, confidence and determination. McBride cited Granite City as a leader in soccer in this region and state.

Schmitt provided piano accompaniment as the gathering of 80 sang "Live Rotary," and Terrell reviewed the past year.

It was noted that the last remaining charter member of the 53-year-old Granite City Rotary Club is Lewis Lindley of California.

Schmitt was praised as a past club president unusually active in a wide range of volunteer service to this community.

James Martin, 58, of 1700 Delmar Ave. is in the intensive care unit at St. Louis' F. M. DeBakey Hospital following an accident at 9:45 p.m. Thursday at the 20th Street railroad crossing in which he was struck by a northbound freight train. His condition today is serious.

A brakeman on the train told police he saw a man sitting on the railroad tracks and informed the engineer, who was unable to halt the train in time.

Martin was charged with discharging fireworks and possession of cannabis after police stopped their car at Wabash Avenue and Johnson Road at 12:15 a.m. Saturday.

Officers said they heard a loud bang when the car containing the two passed near a squad car and was hit by a northbound auto. He was treated for an abrasion to his right shoulder and was released.

plant and equipment which cannot be scrapped overnight. Except every new, untried idea. Therefore, inventions sufficiently revolutionary to render existing operating equipment obsolete have been relatively few and have come at infrequent intervals.

Until 1934, all steel sheets were rolled by the old hand mill process. This mill consisted of two rolls, between which workers passed and re-passed steel until it was reduced to the desired gauge.

They started with a piece of steel known as a "sheet bar" which they heated to a temperature of 1500 degrees F. and passed between the rolls.

The man at the back of the mill, called the catcher, caught the piece of steel as it emerged from the rolls and pushed it back over the top.

The man in the front of the mill, called the driver, took the hot steel with tongs and put it through the rolls again.

It was John Tytus, of the American Rolling Mill Company, who noticed the great amount of arduous labor involved in such frequent handling.

He conceived the idea of eliminating the manual operations and putting one series of rolls after another to reduce the steel by passing it through consecutive series of rolls.

In effect, he adopted the method from that used in the paper mills with which he was familiar.

In 1934, at the American Rolling Mill Company plant at Ashland, Ky., Tytus began to develop the continuous rolling mill under highly secretive conditions.

Of course, his mill was primitive and by no means extremely efficient, but it proved Omar Runk, 52, of 1637 Moro Ave., and Ann Sporic, 57, of 1512 Joy Ave. were injured when their autos collided on Madison Avenue at Narmeki Road at 2:35 p.m. Friday.

Police allege the Sporic auto turned left from Narmeki Road onto Madison Avenue, then crossed the median and the cars collided head-on. Ann Sporic was charged with improper lane usage.

She was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for abrasions to her left knee. X-rays were taken and she left the hospital. Runk also was taken by ambulance to the hospital where he was released after treatment for a cut to his left hand and pain to his back.

Abatement

been accepted by the state and federal Environmental Protection Agencies and has been hailed by the Illinois Attorney General's Office as a "fine abatement tool."

Palinchar also said the agreement serves to get pollution controls in operation as soon as possible while avoiding possible years of litigation which would have been necessary had an agreement not been reached.

"Time is an essential factor in fighting air pollution," he added.

Robertson stressed the company does not believe it has violated any existing law or state rule, but agreed to the program to avoid lengthy and expensive litigation.

He said the agreement also was reached "Because Granite City Steel recognizes its obligations to the people of Granite City and we want to do the things you want us to do, that we reasonably can do."

These are things we think we reasonably can do."

He said the steel company and EPA have been in litigation on other issues since 1970. "It takes a long time. The first time there were more than 45 days of hearings and reaching an agreement stretched over nine months. At that time, only about half of our testimony had been presented."

"It became apparent the public good was being served by reaching an agreement in litigation," Robertson noted.

Robertson went into the history of Granite City, noting apparent that, before many years, the hand mill would be obsolete.

On the other hand, a single hot strip continuous rolling mill would cost $8,000,000, which was within a few million of what the entire Granite City Steel Company was worth.

With this new type of mill, a slab of steel weighing nearly four tons, heated to approximately 2,300 degrees F. could travel 1,400 feet a minute, instead of 100 feet a minute.

This was a tremendous advance over the old Pack Mill practice of starting with a 34-pound bar and operating at a fraction of the speed.

William F. Niedringhaus bought the land and had the city designed as a diverse city.

Niedringhaus set up areas for industries, churches, schools, a YMCA, a gas plant, a waterworks, civic buildings and homes, Robertson related.

He said Niedringhaus had 100 brick homes built for potential industrial employees. He had 14,000 trees planted in the city. All were donated free of charge to the city.

"Granite City was laid out by an industrialist for the purpose of industry, while still providing a good life for its residents. That was the foundation on which Granite City was built. We still have an industrial reputation," he continued.

We have never been a bedroom community. We will never be a bedroom community. As an industrial community, we exist.

"If we stop being an industrial community, we will either cease to exist or we will have a much modified and much poorer community," Robertson predicted.

He stated Granite City Steel, as an integrated steel mill which makes the coke, the iron and the steel, has problems with pollution. "But that does not mean it is in violation of the law."

"There is no way to make a steel mill pure, but Granite City Steel knows its obligation to the good of the community," the attorney said. "Proof of our attitude is the stipulation (agreement) we are here to study today," Robertson stated.

Robertson introduced Dr. Cairns who described the proposed air pollution improvements for the coke oven facility and the basic oxygen furnace division.

He said Granite City Steel needs its coke ovens to produce steel. "Without coke, Granite City Steel could not operate and there is no sufficient commercial supply of coke on the market." He also said there is no suitable substitute for coke in charging the blast furnaces.

He noted new cars will be used to charge coal into the coke ovens, which convert the coal into coke. A jumper system will pull smoke from the oven being charged into an adjacent oven, reducing particles which escape into the air.

When the coke is pushed from the ovens into railroad cars, a set of moveable hoods will capture most of the emissions during the pushing operations, Cairns explained.

The EPA objected to Cairns using the words "enclosed system" in two references and a recess was called during which it was decided to allow Dr. Cairns to continue his presentation, after which he could be questioned by the EPA with specific objections noted in the official record.

When Dr. Cairns resumed his presentation, he discussed proposed air cleaning equipment for the coke oven battery stacks, and a voluntary program of maintaining the doors on the coke ovens.

The agreement provides improvements to reduce emissions into the air from the basic oxygen furnaces, including steam injection to aid the waste air cleaning system, an enclosure around the oxygen lance which is introduced into the BOF vessel, equipment to capture emissions in the tapping of the vessel and recharging operation and a slower charging rate which will avoid large bursts of smoke faster than the existing equipment can filter and clean.

The company also has volunteered to contribute $75,000 to the division of fiscal services of the EPA as part of the agreement.

Surety bonds to assure compliance with the program are required for each new piece of equipment to be installed, if the IPCB approves the document.

The transcript of the hearing will be sent to the IPCB which is expected to make a decision on the agreement within the next 30 to 60 days.

Anyone wishing to make comments on the agreement placed in the records for consideration may write the IPCB at Springfield within the next 10 days, the hearing officer noted.

WHAT MORE APPROPRIATE THEME than the Boston Tea Party could the Nestle Co. plant in Granite City devise for the four-community Bicentennial Parade at 11 a.m. Saturday along Madison Avenue to Venice? World-famous for its tea products, among many diversified food commodities, The Nestle Co. is lending its prestige and employees' craftsmanship to help make the 200th anniversary parade a success. Roger A. Higgins, plant manager at left, takes note as the vessel's construction crew, George W.

Nestle enters Boston Tea Party ship in '76 parade

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Five months of research, discussion, a re-evaluation and actual physical labor have produced a facsimile of a British merchant vessel, circa early 1700's, complete with three masts, furled sails and binnacle.

The ship will be entered in Saturday's four-community Bicentennial Parade by The Nestle Co. plant in Granite City.

More than 150 units, including floats, marching bands, antique cars, horse-drawn and decorated vehicles will travel the length of Madison Avenue from the new block to Broadway and Alice Street in Venice.

starting at 11 a.m.

The Nestle Co.'s entry is a natural for the firm which is world famous for its tea products, together with other diversified food commodities manufactured in plants around the globe. Several are located in the United Kingdom (Britain).

The ship and float were conceived, designed and constructed primarily by two Nestle employees, Louis E. Foster, plant maintenance engineer, and George W. Sterling, manufacturing general foreman.

Also participating in the initial planning were Roger A. Higgins, plant manager, and E. C. Burrows, plant engineer. Four or five other employees helped in various stages of the construction.

Representing one of the British merchant vessels involved in the "Boston Tea Party" on Dec. 16, 1773, the model ship will be manned by Jeff and Brian Sterling, 7 and 14 years, respectively.

Jonathon Meyer, 14 years, and Sharma Higgins, 12.

The pit-size crew and their escorting adult assistants will distribute about 50,000 packets of tea to spectators lining the parade route Saturday.

The model sailing ship is 25 feet in length from bowsprit to boom and eight feet wide. It is firmly affixed to a wheeled platform base and will measure more than 40 feet overall in length when underway.

Attached to the foremast, (13½ feet tall), mainmast (14 feet) and mizzenmast (13½ feet), are furled sails contained in canvas tubes made by the men.

The hull, keel and sides are constructed of lapped wooden struts, carefully varnished and antiqued to a glowing hardwood finish by the builders.

Scrollwork edges the bow, stern and side rail and coiled ropes are fastened to the deck in the bow and aft.

The float itself is covered with blue and white plastic flakes, bordered in white, which move slightly with motion and give the general effect of the ocean.

Speaking for the plant management, Higgins said Thursday that after the Bicentennial Parade here, the Nestle float will be partially dismantled and covered for protection, but will be available for other such occasions.

"We are planning to keep it fairly well intact for future parades and will take it to communities in the area, such as Collinsville, Edwardsville, or wherever any of our employees live and they ask us to enter it," Higgins stated.

Several original ideas, a lot of hard work and not a few cases of "tea" went into the float's construction.

Parade watchers can judge the results Saturday when No. 10 in the lineup hoves into view.

FIRE IN APARTMENT

Venice volunteer firemen were called to the apartment of Thelma Hubler, 175 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, at 1:05 a.m. Saturday after a steam iron, which had been left on in an upstairs bedroom, started that room on fire. The flames were quickly extinguished and firemen returned to the station at 2 a.m. There was no estimate made of the damage.

Bridge, road, transit improvements planned

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board of directors last week endorsed a five-year transportation improvement program for the St. Louis region.

The program was prepared by the Gateway Council staff in cooperation with various state and local jurisdictions in Illinois and Missouri, in response to federal regulations which require the St. Louis area to have a continuing, cooperative and comprehensive transportation program.

Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, chairman of the Gateway board, noted that the five-year program (1977-1981), if approved by appropriate federal and state agencies, would result in $1.2 billion in highway ($1,070,000,000) and transit ($131 million) projects.

First-year expenditures are estimated at $264 million with highway projects accounting for $220 million and transit $44 million.

The highway program has 775 projects, including:

1. Extension of Interstate 255 from the Jefferson Barracks Bridge to I-55 - 70 west of Collinsville.
2. Construction of new I-355 bridge at Jefferson Barracks to accommodate a dual highway.
3. Completion of a new bridge over the Missouri River at St. Charles on I-70.
4. Improvement of Missouri 21 to south of Otto.
5. Completion of a new Lewis Bridge over the Missouri River on U.S. 67.
6. Improvement and widening of U.S. 40 at the Vandeventer overpass.

The program calls for a total of $48,341,420 to be spent on highways in Illinois during the 1976-77 fiscal year and $171,317,581 to be spent in Missouri.

The transit portion of the program for the next five years calls for the following improvements:

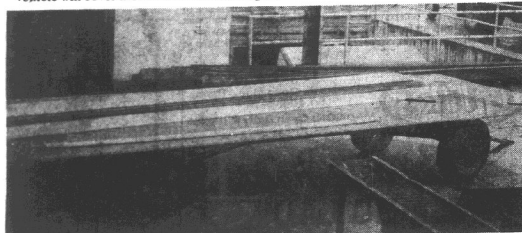

1. Replacement of 220 buses.
2. Purchase of 250 buses for new service.
3. Construction of 600 passenger shelters and 11 park-and-ride facilities.
4. Design and construction of the Locust Street bus-mall.

STEAL COPPER WIRE

About 4,000 feet of copper wiring was cut down from utility poles along County Road at the rear of the Conaco plant in Venice, authorities for the Norfolk & Western Railroad, owners of the wire, discovered at 4:40 p.m. Friday. They estimated the wire weighs 130 to 150 pounds and is worth about $400.

WELDING HEAVY FRAME to hold the 25-foot ship and crew are Harry Walker, maintenance mechanic, at right, and Chuck Venarsky, maintenance trainee. Work on the float began April 2 at The Nestle Co. plant and more than 300 after-work man hours were contributed by the project leaders, Louis E. Foster, maintenance engineer, and George W. Sterling, manufacturing general foreman. The overall float and towing vehicle will cover more than 40 feet in length.

BASE PLATFORM IS ADDED and work starts in earnest to construct to scale a reduced size model of one of the British merchant ships in Boston Harbor which were stormed by American colonists dressed as Indians on Dec. 16, 1773, who hurled 342 chests of tea overboard to protest taxes. The finished vessel has lapped, antique wooden sides and is decorated at deck level with carved edging.

Cynthia Smith marries William Patterson Jr.

An arch covered with greenery, variegated pittosporum and white pom poms, pyramid bouquets of white summer flowers on the altar, flanked by branched candelabra holding burning tapers, provided the setting at Emmanuel Baptist Church for the wedding on June 16 of Miss Cynthia Beth Smith and William Nelson Patterson Jr. Organist Mrs. Marilyn Chrusciel and pianist Mrs. Marge Ellsworth played "Hawaiian Wedding Song" preceding the ceremony. They accompanied Miss MarJean Ellsworth as she sang, "Time In a Bottle," "What Are You Doing the Rest of Your Life," "Twelfth of Never" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Rev. Arthur Short officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 in the evening. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith, 2225 Dawn Place. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haxton of Mulberry Grove, Ill.

Mr. Smith escorted his daughter down the white carpet aisle illuminated with hurricane lamps which were festooned with strings of pittosporum and baby's breath.

She wore a full length gown fashioned of white organza and imported Nottingham lace designed with a high Victorian collar and full bishop sleeves. A lace panel centered with satin ribbon and tiny rose buds accented the front of the gown, and the chapel train was edged with a scallop lace finish.

Her cathedral length veil of bridal illusion bordered in a wide band of matching lace was secured with a lace Juliet cap. She held a colonial bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Peggy Smith chose a long apricot print knit dress fashioned in a princess silhouette with an Empire bodice and high collar complemented with a flowing coat of apricot chiffon.

Her bouquet was a nosegay of coral daisies, white Sweetheart roses, baby's breath and variegated pittosporum. Bridesmaids Mrs. Diana Kraus, a sister of the bride, Miss Brenda Wadlow and Miss Carolyn Lucy were gowned in identical dresses complemented with short jackets with long fitted sleeves.

Their bouquets were arrangements of yellow daisies, baby's breath and pittosporum. Each attendant wore an apricot picture hat.

Shanna Haxton, the groom's sister, served as flower girl. She wore a long bouffant gown of white Chantilly lace over apricot taffeta made with a high neckline and short sleeves. She held a basket of white and coral daisies.

Jimmy Williams was the ringbearer.

Alan Suderick attended the groom as best man. Steve Kraus, Dave Senior, Dave Dallas, Lawrence Ruder and Frank Oge, the latter two uncles of the bride, completed the group of groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn. The rehearsal dinner was served in the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Frank Oge, the bride's aunt, attended the guest book and Kim Smith a sister of the bride and Lisa Oellermann, the bride's cousin served as candelighters.

The couple took a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and will be at home after July 3.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School North where they were members of the Advanced Mixed Chorus. The bride is employed at the court house in Edwardsville and her husband works at A. O. Smith Corp. He also attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Smith wore a pale yellow chiffon pleated gown featuring a deep cape accented with a matching silk flower at the center back. She wore a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses, baby's breath and stephanotis. The groom's mother selected a mint green knit dress created with long sleeves and a square neckline edged in lace. Both mothers selected matching accessories and Mrs. Haxton wore a white orchid encircled with baby's breath and stephanotis.

Out of town guests here for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Oellermann and Mark and Lisa, Mrs. Nell Sifer, Mrs. Selma McReynolds, the Rev. and Mrs. Dennis Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamill and daughter Lois, the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Covington and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ruder.

Author to speak on teenage problems

Strong case for affirmative vote on state civic centers

Legislative prospects are changing rapidly on a wide range of issues as adjournment nears this week, but at present prospects appear good for approval of civic and performing arts centers in Madison County and five other Illinois locations. Springfield, Peoria, Aurora, Danville and Decatur, Chicago lawmakers have dropped plans to amend the bill to include expansion of McCormick Place.

Because a new civic center on land provided by SIUE could be such an economic and cultural asset to this region, many Quad-Cityans are voicing frustration at the negative activity of a group of legislators including Rep. Monroe Flinn, Cahokia Democrat and a former Granite Cityan.

Omission of St. Clair County from the current legislation clarifies a previous law, overturned by the Illinois Supreme Court on technical ground. The civic center was intended for the SIUE area from the start, and inclusion of both Madison and St. Clair Counties in the wording of the initial legislation led to pointless geographic rivalry. The center needs adjacent SIUE parking space and also needs the prospect of part-time leasing to the university to assure that it will be able to operate without deficit.

In view of the long list of laws aiding St. Clair County that Madison County legislators have sponsored over the years, the current opposition from the south seems inappropriate.

Comments that such legislation is "pork barrel" also seem ill-advised. The same funding procedure that permitted McCormick Place to be rebuilt after a fire is now available to help finance the Downstate centers, which seem likely to be able to operate "in black ink" and stimulate health activity and growth in their regions.

Feasibility studies are specified in the legislation to help assure that the investment from horse race track betting funds will be put to sound and worthwhile use.

Time to close the books on the state fair held in 1974

Press-Record Springfield Bureau—State Senate approval of a bill to pay vendors for services and goods they provided to the 1974 State Fair should soon close the books on an awkward situation that has plagued Fair management for two years.

But more than that, the legislative action paves the way for Attorney Gen. William Scott to finally act on two other matters still left over from 1974—contracts with the Buckner Plumbing and Heating Co. and Robert A. Williams Construction Co.

Those two firms were not included in the 244 vendors being authorized payment of $71,300 in the current bill. Buckner already has been paid $872,800 and has billed the state an additional $26,084. The Williams firm has billed the state $261,000 but has not been paid.

A year ago in April a Sangamon County grand jury urged Scott to file suit to void the contracts with those two companies in an attempt to recover the money paid Buckner and to have the court set equitable payment.

In April of this year, Scott said he was waiting to see what action the legislature took on the payments to the other 244 vendors. A spokesman said at the time what happens to that legislation could affect "the legal theories that we will have to develop to support our case."

The grand jury, in making its recommendation, said Buckner's contract could be voided because it wasn't signed and dated, there was no advertising for competitive bids, the firm wasn't the lowest bidder, the firm failed to specify particular work done and that overtime charges were excessive.

Concerning the Williams contract, the jury said the company was half-owned by the wife of a state employee, that there was no advertising for bids and that bids were not competitive, thus, the contract should be voided.

Legislative approval of payment to the other Fair vendors should not give the attorney general further cause for lack of action.

Those 244 vendors had been delayed payment on an invoice by Scott based on technicalities—there were no purchasing rules on file and no competitive advertising for bids—and because the auditors questioned the amounts claimed. Auditor General Robert Crosson later verified the claims of the 244 firms for payment.

It is time for Scott to take action on the matter of the two remaining disputed contracts. We urge him to follow the grand jury recommendations to file suit to void the contracts and recover the money. However, if the attorney general decides against such action, he should do so without further delay and make his reasons known publicly. It is time to finally close the books on the 1974 State Fair.

Court precedent could lead to abuse of First Amendment

Post-Dispatch comment—The U.S. Supreme Court has handed down a good many close decisions illustrating its own legal confusion regarding the issue of obscenity and free speech but its latest 5-to-4 ruling in a Detroit case is perhaps the most startling retreat from the First Amendment.

A 1972 Detroit city ordinance prohibits adult theaters, adult bookstores, cabarets, bars, dance halls and hotels from operating within 500 feet of any residential area. Any of them from operating within 1000 feet of another.

The idea was to zone out a "skid row" and with it what might be called a "rated amusement." Operators of two adult theaters challenged the law.

Justice Stevens held for the majority that the city could regulate businesses on the basis of the activities that characterized them even if it was necessary to evaluate the content of the movies shown in some of them. He contended that the city's interest in regulating the use of property for commercial purposes did not offend the First Amendment.

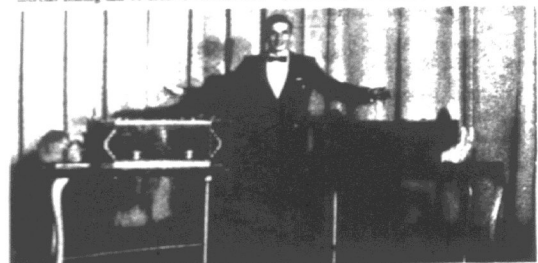

This comes close to saying that commercial zoning can be used to override free speech or free press guarantees.

It is one thing to zone an area for commercial purposes, or even for particular commercial purposes, but quite another to predicate zoning on the nature of the movies, or plays, or books or magazines displayed or sold in an area. That kind of zoning demands a form of prior censorship.

Judge Stewart said in dissent that however sympathetic the high court might be with Detroit's effort to clear up a skid row, it had nevertheless ridden roughshod over the First Amendment.

He added a thought that has been said again and again by more careful judges: that the existence of offensive establishments is a price to be paid for constitutional freedom or, putting it more emphatically, where protected speech grates most unpleasantly against sensibilities judicial vigilance must be at its height.

If the Supreme Court in the future clings to the precedent set here, cities are quite likely to turn to zoning laws to restrict the kind of theater and publications that will be offered within. With such zoning power, they won't need outright censorship.

IMPOSSIBLE! It can't be true, but magician O'Dowd shows that sawing his partner in half is just a matter of concentration, precise angled blades and an unflinching Soudra. The couple has enthralled audiences in Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong and many major American cities. They will perform their feats of sorcery in shows at 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Thursday at Wilson Park ice rink pavilion. Admission is free.

"pop" and "down home" styles in dual performances by Skeets Yankee and other recording artists on Wednesday night.

At "Variety Show" on Thursday, also scheduled to be staged twice, will feature magic, whistling and hand and head balancing acts by professional entertainers.

Both the country-western show Wednesday and the variety arts Thursday will be presented at 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. at Wilson Park ice rink-recreation pavilion.

Children may greet Corky the Clown (Cliff St. James) and Dr. Quack (Bob May) at matinee sessions from 2 to 4 p.m. Thursday (Dr. Quack) and Saturday (Corky). When reduced rates will be in effect on all carnival rides.

The midway and concessions stands, the latter operated by local civic service and youth groups, will open at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and at 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Closing hour each night will be 11 o'clock.

Sunday (July 4) will be the day when all residents of the Granite City Park District are invited to bring a picnic basket to Wilson Park and join their neighbors, friends and relatives in an "all-day community picnic to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday." Harold Brown, superintendent of parks and recreations, announced today.

The Fourth of July celebration will be climaxed at 9 p.m. with a gigantic fireworks exhibition, expected to attract many thousands of spectators.

Stirring patriotic numbers will highlight the "Music Under the Stars" presentation at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Wilson Park ice rink-recreation pavilion.

The children's and high school-adult choruses, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, will perform a "Bicentennial Salute to America," incorporating into the program such songs as "This Land is Your Land," "God Bless America," and "This is My Country."

Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, director, said the ensembles also will present a medley of "Armed Forces songs and 'Battle Hymn of the Republic.'" "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "America the Beautiful," "Yankee Doodle," "You're a Grand Old Flag," "Save the Country," "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," and "America," among others.

Ample seating will be furnished by the park district, and no admission will be charged, Mrs. Bright said.

Wednesday night's "Country Western Show" will give the audience a range of country music from "down home" style to progressive "country pop."

Widely-known country music personality Skeets Yankee has written and published some of the finest songs in the country music field and has recorded many of them on the MGM label and for other companies.

For the past 20 years, he has worked as disc jockey on Radio Station KSTL, St. Louis, and as a performer on the "Hillbilly" magazine as the top disc jockey for country music in America in the mid-1960's.

His songs have been called "one of the most popular programs of country music in America—and during the 30th birthday celebration of the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tenn., he outpulled every other disc jockey in the world of letters received attesting to his popularity."

He was a member of the original "Dick Clark" show and continues to return to the Grand Ole Opry as a performer on special occasions each year.

Ron Mahan and The Country Lads, also on the Wednesday bill, have met success on tours throughout the Midwest and Southwestern sections of the United States, performing at fairs, concerts and on radio and television.

The group who originates in Jefferson City, Mo., has recorded albums and singles on the M and M label.

Leader Mahan is an investigator for the Missouri Department of Agriculture. He and his musicians are acclaimed in the progressive "country pop" field.

Experienced in offering a wide variety of entertainment for all age levels and tastes, Ron Mahan and The Country Lads have appeared with such country music stars as Merle Haggard, Mel Tillis, Ronnie Milap, Barbra Mandrel, Jim Ed Brown, Jerry Clower and Cal Smith, among others.

Whispering, head and hand balancing and mysterious feats of magic will entertain those attending Thursday evening's "Variety Show."

O'Dowd and Soudra's Scintillating Sorcery will capture the imagination of youthful and senior viewers alike among the audience.

Billed as "International Stars of Magic," the duo has performed at the Osaka Royal Hotel in Japan, in Hong Kong and Taiwan and many metropolitan areas of the United States, including Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis.

Their performance is given with a "touch of blarney," O'Dowd's skill as a magician opens a fascinating bag of tricks, reverses state.

Australian whistling and fancy rope spinning are the stock-in-trade.

Kent and Donna Clayton's fast-moving act includes spinning two and three ropes at once and the "human whipping post" whip cracking feat.

They are as fast with the lariat as they are deadly with the whip.

The Claytons' have appeared on the Regis Philbin television show and performed at many resorts, fairs, concerts, night clubs and sport shows.

Another segment of variety magic will feature "The Kents," who serve as masters of ceremonies and present an intricate head and hand balancing act.

In Sunday night's gala spectacle, viewers will find the usual brilliant displays augmented with more bursting star clusters, dual-stage, two-color shells, silver rings encircling plummeting stars in various hues and 11 set exhibits.

A total of $2,500 has been expended by the Granite City Park District to make the presentation the most extravagant display in its history.

Twelve "atomic" salutes will summon spectators to the display area at 9 p.m. Sunday, where serpents, comets, thunder, artillery and Oriental shells are guaranteed to produce gasps of wonder and

COUNTRY WESTERN SINGERS. Ron Mahan-Jan Files and The Country Lads, who will appear in two performances Wednesday evening at 7:30 and 9:30 at Wilson Park ice rink pavilion. The recording artists have appeared on radio and television and performed with

Propose meet on truck problems

A meeting between city officials and representatives of Lippsett Steel Products, Inc., at 2520 E. 23rd St., is to be arranged soon to discuss the possibility of providing a new entrance to the firm's plant, which processes scrap metal.

Decision to meet with the steel firm's representatives was reached by City Council members last week after Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward, chairman of the council's street and alley committee, reported that numerous complaints had been received from residents along 23rd Street and concerning dust and noise caused by trucks at the present gate on 23rd Street.

"We have had reports that heavy trucks carrying scrap metal shake the foundations of homes in that neighborhood and, as a result, have caused cancellation of insurance policies," Boyd told the council.

"I followed some of these trucks and I would say that some of them are not in the best shape. They park around the gate when they get there before the plant is open, and I would say it is a real problem," he added.

Boyd suggested that "we determine if there is another way that trucks could enter the area, possibly from Edwards-ville Road (Highway 162)."

Alderman Roy Foulos of the Third Ward concurred in Boyd's suggestion and said he believed that a committee should be formed to "work something out."

Boyd said he believed that Mayor Paul Schuler should authorize to arrange a meeting between the city and the steel firm to work out the problem. The aldermen approved a motion by Boyd that such a meeting be set up.

Legislative office here tomorrow

"My legislative mobile office will be in Granite City on Tuesday, June 29, at two locations," State Rep. Edward G. Steele announced today.

The schedule: 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at 24th Street and Madison Avenue across from the Granite City Post Office; and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Those citizens who may have questions or problems involving Illinois departments, agencies or programs are encouraged to stop by. Assistance to senior citizens in regard to Illinois senior citizen tax refund forms will also be available," Rep. Steele said.

North Gate onto Niedringhaus Avenue in Granite City.

Chosich said the dispersal route will eliminate backups between units already having completed the parade circuit and those still enroute from 28th Street along Madison Avenue to Broadway in Venice.

Parade units arriving in Venice and waiting to return to Granite City should turn right (north) at Broadway and Klein Street (Venice City Hall), travel north on Klein to Bissell Street and turn left (west) on Bissell to the south gate of the military base.

Units wishing to return to Madison should turn right at Broadway and Klein, continue north on Klein to Bissell and then turn right (east) on Bissell, crossing the railroad tracks into Madison at Market and State streets.

The winners of three first-place awards among the parade entries will be notified at a dispersal point and each will be directed to an area through the south gate of the Army installation, where presentation of awards will take place and winning units will be photographed.

Alternate routes or detours around the parade route will be directed by police officers from Granite City, Madison and Venice.

The mammoth parade will begin promptly at 11 a.m. Saturday, and units must assemble at the starting point no later than 10 a.m., Chosich stressed.

Large floats and trucks will assemble on either side of Madison Avenue, north of 25th Street, with marching units gathering along Iowa Street, from 28th Street to Nameoki Road.

The two segments will intersect, according to parade number, at 28th and Madison and form a continuous line travelling south on Madison to Venice.

Udell Bischoff home here vividly reflects the early history of Quad-City area

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer
The stately Udell Bischoff family home at 3111 E. 23rd St. between Namecki Road and Route 162 has attracted a great deal of attention as the bicentennial year has caused many to look back into history. The Bischoff home is one of many historically rich structures in the Quad-City area, situated on the site of what is believed one of the earliest permanent structures here. The land was part of a free 160-acre grant given by the United States Congress to the Gilliam family, but history records two differing accounts of the grant. One account is that the grant was given in 1834 to Isaac Gilliam in reward for fighting in the War of 1812. At that time, each soldier discharged was to have received a grant. The second account reports the grant was given to Mrs. Ann Gilliam in 1815. In testimony of the hardship and sufferings she endured during her captivity among the Indians.

She and three of her children were whisked from their farm in Kentucky in June 1790 and were prisoners of the Kickapoo Indians for five years until her husband, Thomas Gilliam, found her and paid a ransom to free her and the children, one historical account relates.

It was during his search for his wife and children that Thomas Gilliam and his youngest son, Isaac, discovered the beauty of this area and was so impressed that he settled here, first south of St. Louis and later moving to Madison County near Horseshoe Lake, the account relates.

Official Madison County records begin with the 160 acres in the hands of Isaac Gilliam, who sold some of the property in 1825 for $360 to his son, Isaac Gilliam Jr. and wife Martha. In 1866, their son, James Gilliam sold 80 acres, including the Bischoff property, to August Koeneke and wife Dorothy Luaders Koeneke, for $7,500, according to official county plats.

When August Koeneke died in 1869, Mrs. Koeneke inherited the property and, in 1872, she married Christian Krohne. Official documents do not reflect when the first structure was built on the property, but a log cabin which was there until the 1950s was believed built sometime between 1825, when Isaac Gilliam Jr. owned the property, and 1845, just after the great 1844 flood which covered all the area from the Mississippi River to the bluffs with water.

Some historians contend the log cabin had to be built after the flood, which destroyed most structures in the Quad-Cities area, but others believe numerous structures survived the flood and the cabin may have been one of those structures.

History notes that just before the 1844 flood, farmers took all their livestock and their families up onto the bluffs where they remained until the water receded.

Christian Krohne and Dorothy had six children, including Charles Krohne, who told his children he was born in the log cabin on the Bischoff property. Charles has several children still surviving in this area.

The original house on the Bischoff property was constructed by August Krohne between his marriage in 1872 and his death in 1883.

The house was constructed on a basement foundation with 15-inch-thick stone forming the basement walls. The frame of the house was formed of 4 by 4 inch boards, set 12 inches apart, and was held together with square nails.

The house and property were inherited by Mrs. Krohne and her four surviving children when Christian Krohne died. Two of their children preceded the father in death.

Survivors besides Charles were Frederick Krohne, Anna Pick and Dorothea Stelhorn. For many years, the house and property were rented to Carl and Meta Bruns until the Krohne family put it up for sale in 1947.

The Bischoffs purchased 71 acres of the property and began a two-year remodeling project on the house, bricking the exterior and refurbishing the entire interior. The late Chester Kelly helped in the remodeling design, utilizing the sound original structure as much as possible. M. H. Wolfe & Co. was general contractor for the work.

The Bischoff family moved into the house in 1950 and a short time later constructed an addition on the west side.

The original log cabin was still standing at that time, but a barn had been constructed around it. One entrance into the barn led directly into the log cabin with an exit from the cabin into the main part of the barn.

"We were not too much interested in history at that time, and the barn was a wreck, so we tore down the whole thing and Udell hauled the logs back into the field somewhere and they have probably rotted away by now," Mrs. Bischoff noted, adding, "I often think now, 'If only we had left that log cabin standing.'"

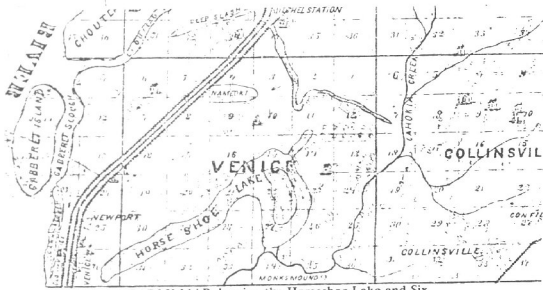

The Bischoffs utilized a well believed dug by James Gilliam which was 33 feet deep and still has water. After city water reached the home, the well was boarded up, but the Bischoffs constructed a rustic hood over the old well, appropriate for the history it reflects.

Today the house and the nearby well are surrounded by thick ivy which covers the lawn around the house, a peaceful and beautiful tribute to the 200 years of life and work which formed the foundation of the Bischoff house and of life today in the Quad-City area.

OLDEST KNOWN WELL in the Quad-City area is this 33 foot deep well on the Bischoff property, believed dug sometime between 1825 and 1845 by James Gilliam. The well now is boarded up, but does have water in it and would be usable. The structure around the well was constructed by the Udell Bischoff family. (Press-Record Photo)

LOOKING INTO THE PAST this 1948 photo shows the original front of the log cabin constructed on the Bischoff property as early as 1825 by James Gilliam. A barn on the property was constructed around the log cabin, leaving the original structure inside. The outside of the barn can be seen on both sides of the entryway with the front door to the cabin inside. The log cabin was one of the oldest known structures in the Quad-City area until both the cabin and the barn were demolished.

AN ACTIVE FARM in 1948 when this photo was taken, the property of the Udell Bischoff family still was a farm when owned by the Carl Bruns family. The barn shown was built around the original log cabin on the property and the house at the right was remodeled by the Bischoffs into the stately home they now occupy.

COMFORTABLE FIREPLACE in the Udell Bischoff home, 3111 E. 23rd St., was constructed on one of the outside walls of the century-old Christian Krohne house and was designed to keep with the historic mood of the home. A large table made from an old bellows accents the fireplace. Mrs. Lorraine Bischoff is shown reading in one of her favorite locations, especially in the winter when the fireplace is used. (Press-Record Photo)

THOUSANDS OF SONGS were played at religious services in the Quad-City area on this organ which was carried from place to place. It is powered by air pressure, generated by pushing the foot pedals. There are differing opinions of the organ's age, but it is believed to have been in use in 1850 and possibly as early as 1830 when church services were rotated each Sunday among the members' homes. Examining the organ is Mrs. Georgia Engleke. (Press-Record Photo)

ORIGINAL STAIRCASE in the Udell Bischoff home which was hand crafted when the house was built about 1880 by Christian Krohne. The home was one of the first truly permanent houses in the Quad-Cities area, as most houses built before that time were log cabins. On the staircase is Mrs. Georgia Engleke, who has been researching the history of the Quad-City area and many of its early structures. (Press-Record Photo)

Accept contract changes

The Granite City Board of Education accepted last week changes in the contract for the 1976-77 school year to include an increase from $100 to $110 per student per semester, and a 25-cent an hour reimbursement rate to the district if the student drops out of the course.

Joseph Stemmer of Joseph's School of Hair Fashions and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tucker of the Granite City School of Beauty Culture met with Robert F. Maxwell, director of vocational education, to discuss the changes.

The shop owners submitted an outline for future changes whereby the students would rent test books and pay the initial registration fee.

A competitive swimming program for students whereby any individual or group of swimmers who wish to enter the 1976-77 IHSA swimming tournament must send notification of intent to the respective building principals, prior to the opening of school, was approved by the board.

Terms of the program include that a member of the faculty must agree to accompany and supervise the contestants and serve as the official representative of the group throughout the competition.

Should a participating group include students from both Granite and South high school, two entry fees would be needed as well as two faculty representatives, entry fees and necessary costs of substitute teachers will be assumed by the school district.

Other costs, including travel, insurance, and per diem expenses of the participants and faculty representatives must be assumed by the respective building principal or his designate.

Participants must meet all IHSA eligibility requirements, including the physical examination. Once the eligibility list is submitted, students may not compete in any swimming event outside the school until eliminated from the IHSA tournament series.

A participant who qualifies in district competition must continue unless documented medical evidence of inability to participate is provided.

Also approved by board members was a secondary school girls sports program recommendation for the forthcoming school year.

A summary of the Grigsby Junior High reading lab was submitted by Owen E. Humphrey and the board approved continuation of the pilot program. The board was asked to act upon the recommendations of Humphrey on the foreign language program at the July 13 meeting since the entire program will have to be revised to suit the current needs of the students.

Buddy Davis on panel to review school aid

A citizens commission has been named to conduct a major review of state aid programs to local schools. State Board of Education Chairman Jack Witkowski announced Thursday in Springfield.

Witkowski said the 16-member commission will examine the problems of the state's resource equalizer formula, look at the variations of wealth and assessment practices in local districts, and consider the practice of funding categorical grants on a current year basis rather than reimbursement districts for previous year's expenditures.

The commission's recommendations on how to pay for Illinois schools during the next five years are to be presented to the State Board of Education, the legislature and other state officials in December.

Witkowski said, "In convening this group of outstanding individuals, the State Board is recognizing the urgency for long-range planning in education."

"Each member brings to the commission a special viewpoint and commitment to the equitable funding of our schools and we are most fortunate they have accepted this responsibility."

Named to the commission are: George Morrow of Chicago, president of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, who will serve as the group's chairman; David E. Conner of Chicago, president of the Commercial National Bank of Peoria; Stanley L. Johnson of Chicago, president of the Illinois State AFL-CIO; Helen Whalen of Homewood, legislative chairperson for the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers; Frederic Hickman of Chicago, an attorney and former U.S. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Tax Policy; Daryl Grisham of Chicago, president of Parker House Sausage Company; James Brice of Chicago, a CPA and co-chairperson of an Arthur Andersen audit.

Buddy Davis, Granite City steelworker official and vice president of the Illinois State AFL-CIO; Dorothy O'Neill of Champagne, state chairperson of school finance for the Illinois League of Women Voters; Olive Whiting of Anna, a member of the Council of 100, a group concerned with the advancement of education in Southern Illinois; Harold Steele, a Bureau County farmer and president of the Illinois Agricultural Association; Joan Levy of Winnetka, president of the Winnetka School District 36 Board of Education; Arthur Berman, (D) State Representative for the 11th District in Chicago and chairperson of the School Problems Commission; Gene Hoffman, (R) State Representative of the 40th District in Elmhurst, vice chairperson of the School Problems Commission; Donald Truitt, State Board of Education member from Palatine.

Witkowski also will serve on the commission. The State Board of Education earlier this year voted to assemble such a group to study the school funding problems. Among the topics to be addressed will be (1) inequities arising from variations in local property valuations; (2) declining enrollments and their impact on state aid; (3) fiscal equity for different types of districts; (4) inclusion of an education need factor; (5) variations in assessment practices among and within counties and townships; (6) possible use of alternative wealth measures; (7) the relationship between general state aid and federal and state categorical programs; and (8) projections of needed state revenues.

The commission will be assisted in its study by a technical task force to be chaired by Dr. Alan Hickok of the Bureau of the Budget and state legislature, will contribute their expertise and provide research and other assistance to the citizens commission.

Profits from the three-day event will go mainly to the local organizations sponsoring the booths. Each organization is making a donation to the City of Madison to construct a permanent memorial to mark the nation's 200th year.

The three films slated for the "War on Film" night tomorrow are the Marx Brothers' classic war satire, "Duck Soup," an Oscar winner, "Hearts and Minds" and a classic World War II village propaganda short, "Battle of Britain." The movies begin at 7:30 p.m.

"Duck Soup," a 1933 film starring Margaret Dumont, Louis Calhern and Edgar Kennedy as well as the Marx Brothers, is called the purest comedy film effort the Marx Brothers produced. Although just 72 minutes long, the film contains some of the brothers' most memorable sequences. It satirizes various elements of war-making with each segment, and satirizes war in general by its general refusal to take war seriously.

"The Battle of Britain" is a 30-minute featurette produced by Frank Capra during World War II as one of seven special movies made to explain world events to the American soldier. Capra, already an outstanding Hollywood producer at the start of the war, produced seven featurette films—using explicit narration, newsreel clips and animation—that were eventually shown throughout the world to both military and civilian audiences. It has been said that the films not only stated the films not only stated, but perhaps helped create American pre-war and post-war policy.

"Hearts and Minds," made by Peter Davis ("The Selling of the Pentagon") is what one critic called a "deeply disquieting inquiry into the origins and cost of American involvement in Vietnam," a thoroughly committed, brilliantly executed and profoundly moving document.

The film, which won an Academy Award for documentaries in 1975, was almost not released for American audiences. Although it was celebrated at the Cannes Festival in 1974, Columbia Pictures refused to release it to general audiences for legal reasons, when a one-time presidential advisor sued the filmmakers for invasion of privacy. After the advisor lost his case, Warner Brothers picked up the film and released it to the public.

The film series, free to the public, will be shown in Meridian Hall of the SIUE University Center.

The six other nights of film specials during the course of the River Festival season include an evening of foreign films (July 12), a science fiction evening (July 19), a special event documentary showing of "The Other Half of the Sky" (July 26), an evening called "Director's Viewpoint" (Aug. 5), an evening of "swash-bucklers" (Aug. 9) and an evening of avant-garde films (Aug. 16).

Favor lower penalty on short school term

The State Board of Education at its June meeting Thursday moved to support a change in the school code to lessen the penalty for schools being in session fewer days than the required full 176-day school year.

Charles M. Long, board legislative committee chairman, said, "The present penalty of withdrawing one per cent of state aid per day for each day schools are not in session under the 176-day requirement seems severe. It amounts to cutting almost two days' aid for each day of school are closed."

The board proposed a penalty withdrawing 1-1/2% of yearly state aid for each "lost" day instead of one per cent of yearly state aid per day.

State Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin reminded those present at the State Board meeting that this action did not mean that the board was advocating a shorter school year or sanctioning work stoppage. "We want the children to have a full school year,"

"School districts still must file a calendar of at least 176 attendance days per school year with the regional superintendent of schools before the fall opening of school. If the districts fail to follow the calendar, they can be put on probationary recognition. These provisions will remain in effect."

"This action simply makes the daily state aid penalty for a lesser number of days more equitable," he said.

The measure currently would affect Cahokia, Chicago and several other school districts.
